

TO ADVERTISERS.
The rates for advertising in the Daily World do not apply to the Evening issue. Nor do the rates of that issue apply to the morning edition.

STILL IT GROWS!
First day, 111,410 copies.
Second day, 115,580 copies.
Third day, 128,420 copies.
This is the third day's record of THE EVENING WORLD's reception by the people. An increase of 4,170 on the second day's issue over the first day. An increase of 12,840 the third day over the second day.
Such a success is not only unprecedented in the history of journalism—it is astounding! Are we not justified in inscribing on our banner, "On to 200,000!"
And then, what beyond?

A CALL FOR MORE LIGHT.
Why do not some of the lawyers who wanted to ensure the press for its criticisms of Judge Roosa's action throw a little light upon these remarkable and inconsistent circumstances?
First—Judge Roosa distinctly said that it was the constant practice of the Court of Appeals in other than capital cases to issue stays similar to that granted JACOB SHARP. Yet the District-Attorney and others familiar with the criminal law had never heard of such an instance. Where are the precedents of this "constant practice?"
Second—Judge Roosa declared that such stays were not matters of record. But the law plainly directs that no such stay can take place without a certificate is filed by the Judge. Is not a filed certificate a matter of record?
Let the legal luminaries shed their light upon these contradictory circumstances, not "for the benefit of the press," but to allay the growing suspicion that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor.

WOES OF BANKERS.
The hearts of the bankers of the National Association now in session at Pittsburgh must have been touched by the appeal of President LOOGAN C. MURRAY yesterday.
Mr. MURRAY drew a pathetic picture of the deplorable condition of the banker as compared with that of the workman. Laborer, says President MURRAY, received $1 a day wages twenty-five years ago. Now they receive an average of $2, and with that can buy more than $5 worth of purchases then.
How is it with the banker? Alas! he "gets a lower rate of interest for his money" than he got in the good old times, "his living is more expensive, his wants are increasing, the demands upon him for charities are greater, and his happiness is not augmented in a relative proportion."
Unhappy banker! But there is consolation in knowing that at any moment he can abandon his institution and take to honest labor. Doubtless he could find many a philanthropic laborer willing to change places with him despite his relatively unimpaired happiness.

THE BAKERS' TERRIBLE REVENGE.
Disgusted with the law's delay in duly punishing the policemen for the Union Square outrage, the Executive Committee of Bakers' Union No. 1 have decided to take matters in their own hands and score a terrible and unprecedented revenge. They have sternly resolved "to extend no more favors to policemen when they seek refuge in the bake-shops on cold nights."
No longer will the bluecoats be able to regale themselves with the succulent midnight bun. No longer can they warm themselves before the furnaces and literally sample the doughnuts piping hot from the simmering caldron. No longer will the bakers pass them a friendly tip at the approach of the roundsmen. The entire cordials is broken. Indeed, any baker who surreptitiously commits these hospitable acts will be fined $25 by the union.

This mode of revenge may have its peculiar aspects. But it is certainly more practical than anything the Police Commissioners have yet done. The stomach is a vulnerable spot in the anatomy of the "finest."
"THE WORLD" AS A NEMESIS.
GABRIEL REY told a more thrilling tale of crime, its strategy, its mystery and its final detection than the version of the famous BARON MURDER, with its remarkable disclosures, outlined exclusively in yesterday's EVENING WORLD and presented in detail in THE WORLD this morning.
The case is one of the most extraordinary and intensely interesting in the criminal history of this country. THE WORLD's success in dispelling this nine-years' mystery and bringing about the arrest and extradition of two of the probable burglars and murderers is unparalleled in the record of journalistic detection of crime.

Not the least gratifying feature of these disclosures is the vindication they afford Treasurer BARON and his heroic and devoted wife, who has stood true to his memory through nine years of suspicion, contumely and social ostracism.

POLITICS AGAINST REFORM.
It is to be regretted that Attorney-General O'BRIEN has signified his retirement from office by a legal opinion of the Capt. Cuttle order.
The Attorney-General decides that, inasmuch as the State Constitution authorizes the Superintendent of Public Works to appoint all persons employed in the care and management of the canals, he can make such appointments regardless of the Civil-Service law. The constitutional authority, Mr. O'BRIEN holds, removes the appointments from the control of the Legislature.

The State Constitution provides that every male citizen shall be entitled to vote for all officers elected by the people. But the Legislature says the citizen shall not vote unless he has previously registered in accordance with the State law. If the Legislature can prescribe qualifications for voters, surely they can provide qualifications for officeholders. The Attorney-General's opinion seems to be based more on politics than on law.

HONEST LABOR.
The Knights of Labor in their General Assembly have rejected a resolution of sympathy with the condemned Anarchists. This is a wise proceeding. Honest labor is naturally conservative. It seeks all the time to better its condition; to lay up a competency for a family; to secure a home and comfort able surroundings; to educate its children and fit them for honorable and prosperous careers. How, then, can the true Knights of Labor have any sympathy with those who would overthrow law and order and render the competency of the workman as insecure as the wealth of the millionaire?

The United Labor party is strong in this State because it disclaimed all association with the Socialists and refused to recognize them in its nomination of candidates. Labor is the bulwark of the Republic; anarchy is its ruin.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN has passed over to the majority. He has joined Health Officer SMITH, Quarantine Commissioners PLATT, NICHOLS and JUDG, Satrap STEPHENSON and his five associate Commissioners of Emigration, eight Port Wardens and other officials, all of whom are "hold-overs." And he will hold on as long as he can.

One fruit of the indignation of the Dartmouth students over President BARTLETT's arbitrary action in the recent hazing affair was the appearance of a donkey in the Presidential pulpit yesterday morning. The undergraduates considered it a BARTLETT pair.

It is not significant that JAMES G. BLAINE should lead HENRY GEORGE six votes as first choice for President at the Anti-Poverty Fair, and that Gov. HILL should beat President CLEVELAND 150 to 25.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN says: "I won't be driven out of politics." How much meaning is sometimes compressed in a little sentence. Like others of his ilk, O'BRIEN evidently considers "politics" synonymous with office-holding.

Quarantine Commissioner PLATT follows JACOB SHARP's lead. He asks for a stay of proceedings while he appeals from Justice JAGGARD's decision against changing the place for the trial of the suit of ouster from Albany to New York.

LESTER B. FAULKNER is justly held on the charge of wrecking the Danville bank. What has become of WARNER, WORK, TOWNE and the undicted rascals who helped FREDERICK WARD and FISH to wreck the Marine Bank?

Mr. DEWEY suggests that the American people may conclude to put a man of brains in the White House next year. Mr. DEWEY is certainly himself a man of brains.

Of course, the Western Union stockholders endorsed the action of the Western Union management. When Mr. GOULD bows before the mirror his reflection usually does the same.

The Harlem Democrats want MARTINE for Sessions Judge and NICOLL for District-Attorney. So do good Democrats and good Republicans all over the city.

FICS AND THISTLES.
A red-hot meteor came humming through the air at New Smyrna, Fla., the other day and startled Harry Sums, who was fishing from a boat in the creek.

A resolution has been introduced in the City Council of Philadelphia declaring a nuisance for passengers to expectorate on the floor of street railroad cars, and providing that a penalty of $2 be imposed in each case.

There will be two Grover Cleveland and two Frances Folson Cleveland presents at the Piedmont Exposition, which is being held in Atlanta. The other couple are the twin children of Mr. G. H. Cleveland, of Pelham, Ga.

Reno, Nev., is not a progressive town in other ways, but it offers every other inducement to the miser who comes in to get a glimpse of the seductive green-baize table. Thirty-one gambling games are in full blast every night.

An ingenious Chicagoan has invented a cyclone paralyzizer which is calculated to knock an automobile-shaped cloud into smithereens. The machine looks like an Anarchist bomb, but the dynamite in it is so arranged as to be exploded by the slightest jar.

Near Reidsville, N. C., there is a little negro boy who in place of a nose has a diminutive snout which is an exact counterpart of an elephant's trunk. The boy is ten years old and quite intelligent. He uses the snout in eating, and picks up nuts from the ground with it.

People walking on the main street of Trinidad, Col., were astonished by a shower of silver dollars that rained down upon them. It was found that a fellow who had more money than he knew what to do with had stationed himself at a second-story window and was scattering coin right and left.

The new Sunday law in Texas places the long-suffering tramp between two fires. It provides that any person found loitering about without visible means of support on the Sabbath shall be arrested as a vagrant, and at the same time imposes severe penalties on any one convicted of doing manual labor on Sunday.

For a rather tardy celebration of the Queen's Jubilee at Denby Dale, England, the bakers of the village recently constructed an immense meat pie, which measured eight feet across, was two feet deep and weighed 4,500 pounds. The pie was taken in a cart drawn by ten horses to a field called Norman Park, where a hungry mob surrounded it and disposed of it in a twinkling.

Prof. T. P. Thomas, a teacher in the city schools of Knoxville, Tenn., took a live rattlesnake into the classroom to illustrate some points he was going to make in a lecture. In an unguarded moment the snake bit him and he dropped it to the floor. There was a panic among the pupils, but none of them was bitten. Prof. Thomas swallowed a quart of whiskey and will recover.

Mrs. Augusta Evans Wilson, the novelist, is one of the few people who are heroes in the eyes of their servants. Among the treasures of her beautiful Southern home is a herd of Jerseys. Not long ago Mrs. Wilson was looking at a fine calf when a gargo servant came up and announced: "Miss Gargo, I done named dat calf." "What?" inquired Mrs. Wilson. "Beulah Sh. Elmo Vashy," was the prompt and unexpected reply.

He Meant Pockets.
"Well, how about the conquests at the beach this summer?" asked a fond father of his daughters upon their return from the seashore. "I suppose you broke many a heart?"
"Oh, no, father," replied Miss Sophronia; "our mission was not to break hearts. We are New Yorkers."

Thought the Slave-Trade Unnecessary.
Dentist (kindly).—Now does that hurt?
Patient.—I don't mind you working on the tooth so much, but if you will just ease your slave-bait on my right eye, I'll be obliged.

We congratulate you on your new evening edition, and hope it will soon reach the circulation of your morning paper. Good luck!

[From the Buffalo Express.]
To say that the New York World of the afternoon edition, of the New York World resembles its father is praise enough.

[From the Columbia (N. Y.) Register.]
The New York World publishes now an evening edition, and thus it proposes to augment its already abundant resources of journalism.

[From the Saratogian.]
A glance at the New York EVENING WORLD, which appeared yesterday, induces the prediction that it will "catch on." Success to it.
[From the Kennebec Journal.]
The enterprising New York World started an evening paper yesterday. The phenomenal success of THE WORLD is one of the marvels of the age.

[From the Chicago Inter Ocean.]
The New York World yesterday inaugurated an afternoon issue. James Gordon Bennett, who returned from Europe on Sunday, was in good time to witness the launching of the new venture.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]
The proprietors of the New York World have begun the publication of an evening edition of the same paper. It may prove a more serious affair than was anticipated for the realities of another WORLD.

[From the Union Press.]
The latest and one of the best of the New York evening papers is THE EVENING WORLD, which made its first appearance yesterday afternoon. It is a bright and new sheet which will doubtless have a large sale.

[From the Atlantic Constitution.]
The New York World has started an evening paper. It will doubtless be a success. People may say what they please about Editor Pulitzer, but he seems to know just what the average newspaper reader wants, and he never fails to print it.

[From the Evening World.]
The first number of the New York EVENING WORLD is to hand. In appearance it is an exact counterpart of its morning progenitor, except that it has fewer pages. That it is bright, able and full of fresh news as an egg is of meat goes without saying.

[From the Boston Times.]
Mr. Joseph Pulitzer yesterday entertained over three thousand newsmen at a theatre party as a memorial of the success of the new EVENING WORLD. Mr. Pulitzer and his staff seem to know just where and when to take hold of things to make sensations which shall be pleasurable and profitable—and at the same time, and at the time, both the World.

[From the Boston Globe.]
Although the first sheets of THE EVENING WORLD in New York did not leave the presses until 3.30 P. M., the first day's sales aggregated over 110,000 copies. Everybody expected much of THE EVENING WORLD, but it proved to be a better paper even than was anticipated. The hope and believe the World, with its enormously increased power, will keep its promise to fight always for the right and against the wrong, and we wish there were more papers like it.

[From the Albany Union.]
Following the fashion, the New York World last evening issued for the first time an evening edition, and as THE WORLD never undertakes anything without a purpose, it is sufficient to say that its latest move is one in the right direction. It is bright and new, with all the characteristics for which THE WORLD is famous and which have made the paper such a power. THE EVENING WORLD starts out well, and certainly deserves all the success which is its due.

[From the Buffalo Courier.]
The New York EVENING WORLD springs into the arena of journalism fully equipped for a strong fight for existence. A six-page paper, full of news and with an abundance of advertising, it is a miracle of cheapness at its price of one cent. It proposes to be truthful and independent in all things and to support justice, humanity and reform. Life in New York will keep it busy in its quest for its comprehensive platform. Facts that many of its friends deplore aside, THE WORLD is a great creation and capable of carrying out the most extended newspaper enterprises. That the evening venture will prove a success cannot be doubted.

SULLIVAN ANGRY WITH MITCHELL.
The Pugilistic Champion Says He Will Knock Off the Englishman's Head.
[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
BOSTON, Oct. 13.—Champion John L. Sullivan and Charlie Mitchell, of England, are not the best of friends. Sullivan thinks the Englishman has treated him shabbily, and has had many "cracks" at him without giving him a chance to shut off Mitchell's "gas."

Said the champion to an EVENING WORLD correspondent: "I will show the money of Mitchell's friends on this side of the water will have a chance to put up their money. I mean to call them down, Jack Stewart among the others. I will show the money of the public what a bluff game Mitchell and his friends have been playing. If Mitchell ever comes to this country again he will get his head knocked off."

Too Much for Him.
[From the Hotel Mail.]
A badly battered, badly tattered man, with one arm in a sling and eye in mourning, tottered into an uptown hotel and asked for the proprietor. The clerk told him that no tramps were allowed in the house.

"But I am no tramp. I am a hotel man."
"Did you just disconnect yourself from a railroad collision?"
"No, worse than that. I have just walked from Kentucky where I've been trying to run a temperance house."

Much to Answer For.
[From Puck.]
Clerk—So you are a self-made man?
Employer—Yes, sir; whatever I am to-day I owe entirely to myself.

Clerk—Well, um! I suppose that's—
Employer—Well, sir; what do you suppose?
Clerk—Suppose that at times you must feel the responsibility.

THEY WERE WEDDED AT NOON.
FRANCES ISABEL MORRIS MARRIED TO THURLOW WEED BARNES.
The Ceremony Performed by the Rev. Dr. Palmer, of New Orleans—Bride and Groom Start for Albany in Mr. Morris's Steam Yacht Cora—They Will Spend the Honey-moon Near Colorado Springs.
Miss Frances Isabel Morris, daughter of John A. Morris, of New Orleans, was married at noon to-day in the West Presbyterian Church, in Forty-second street, to Mr. Thurlow Weed Barnes, of Albany. Owing to the illness of the bride's grandmother the ceremony was performed in the city instead of at Mr. Morris's country place in Westchester.

Mr. Barnes, accompanied by his brother, William Barnes, Jr., as best man, arrived at the church a little after 12. The bride arrived soon after with her father, who gave her away. She wore the conventional veil and white satin gown with a long train, beautifully embroidered. She bore some loose Puritan robes in her hand.

The Rev. Dr. B. M. Palmer, who came on from New Orleans for the purpose, performed the ceremony. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. Parton, pastor of the church. The ceremony was very brief.

As soon as the marriage ceremony was over Mr. and Mrs. Barnes drove to the foot of Fourteenth street and boarded Mr. Morris's steam yacht, the Cora. They will arrive in Albany, the groom's birthplace, Saturday morning, and in the evening will leave for his ranch near Colorado Springs, Col., where they will spend the honeymoon.

The guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sherman, Dr. and Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, the Misses Huger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Janier, Col. and Mrs. W. M. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Post, Miss Post, Randolph Robinson, Miss Eleanor Robinson, Mr. Ballard Smith, Dr. J. McE. Wetmore, Mr. and Mrs. Thatchers M. Adams, the Misses Adams, Mrs. Bankhead, the Misses Bankhead, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Collier, Mrs. Eugene Blois, of Westchester; Mrs. Needles Jennings, Miss McIlhenny, of Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Maury, of Mobile. The first six were occupied by the families and relatives of the bride and groom.

FRESHMEN WITH CANES.
Columbia Sophomores Meek as Lambs—Would a High Hat Roast Them?
For the first time in the history of Columbia College every Freshman was allowed to carry a cane unmolested to-day. Heretofore such an act would have instantly invited a fierce attack by the Sophomores.

To-day the Freshmen, having previously notified the Sophomores of their intention, all presented themselves with enormous canes. The largest sticks were carried by the elmsmith youths. They went boldly to the check room, and Curtis, of '91, presented the challenging cane to be checked. Meanwhile the Sophomores, who were waiting below, offered to grab the cane as it was passed over the counter, and it still remains in check under the name of Curtis to the glory of '91.

The incident of the Sophomores is due to the resolution passed by them last week by a vote of twenty-three to twenty, not to be the attacking party in any cane-rush. But how much provocation they can stand after a cane vote has not been determined. It thought by some that a Freshman with a high hat would bring on a pitched battle.

The President commends the action of the Sophomores. The fact that the students injured in the rush last year that he subsequently died, had its influence.

HONORS TO PAINE AND BURGESS.
Te-Night's Banquet to the Owner and Designer of the Volunteer.
The New York Yacht Club did its duty to the Scottish yachtsmen of the Thistle on Tuesday evening. This evening the club will honor Gen. C. J. Paine and the designer of the Volunteer, Mr. Edward Burgess by a sumptuous dinner at Delmonico's.

Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry will preside, and plates will be laid for 115 diners. Before Commodore Gerry will stand the first won by the America, in 1851, and retained here in the races of 1870 by the Magic, in 1871 by the Columbia, in 1876 by the Magic, in 1881 by the Atlanta, in 1885 by the Puritan, in 1886 by the Mayflower and this year by the Volunteer. Other silver prizes won by these yachts by the Sappho, Danvers, Montauk, Chicago, Clio, Michigan and other yachts of the club fleet will adorn the tables, and the walls will be festooned with flags of all nations, the club flag, and the stars and stripes, being intertwined behind the President's chair.

A "half-model" of the Volunteer will be placed on the dais, trimmed with bright flowers and garlands. The banquet-room will be thrown open from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon to all who desire to see the trophies.

New Plans for the Exhibition.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE EVENING WORLD.]
LONDON, Oct. 13.—Many prominent Italians, both in England and Italy, have taken an interest in the American Exhibition at Earl's Court. While it is not likely that the Italian Government will officially recognize the exhibition, they certainly approve of the scheme and will probably further it by lending certain public collections of work of art. A novel and interesting entertainment is contemplated for the World War area by way of a display of ancient and modern Italian sports, and it is probable that on the ground now occupied by the Indian village will be erected an old Italian street, representing various styles of Italian edifices. The enterprise is being promoted by Americans.

Mrs. Hudson Held for Trial.
Mrs. Emma Lee Hudson, confidence woman, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court this morning on a charge of stealing goods from Aiken & Son to the value of $62.75. Her counsel tried to get her discharged on technicalities, but she was held in $500 for trial. It is said that last evening her counsel endeavored to take her morphine to the prisoner in the Tombs, as it is said she is confined in the morning hall.

Young American Traps Examined.
The annual examination on board the school ship St. Mary's, now anchored off Wall street, was begun this noon. The examining board consisted of Capt. Winchester, Spicer, Ball, McKay, Brown, Tregaron, Hamilton, Jollard, Quig and Jackson.

Great Excitement in Portchester.
The village of Portchester to-day celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the change in its name from Sappho to Portchester. The place is overflowing with enthusiasm.

Going to Church.
[From the Dublin Telegraph.]
There was a thoroughness about a Dubliner's death recently when we asked him to go with us and hear a good Christian sermon, and he replied, "I won't go there last Sunday, but I promised my wife I'd go to church to-day."

BRIEF GLIMPSES AT SOCIETY.
The Baron de Thomsen gave a dinner at Delmonico's last night.
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Livingston will go South for a greater part of the winter.
Mr. and Mrs. William Belden, of No. 510 Fifth avenue, have returned to the city.
Miss Ingraham, who has been visiting friends at Far Rockaway, has returned to the city.
Among the New Yorkers who still linger at Milford, Pa., are Miss Livingston and Miss Harrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward McAllister have returned to their house in East Sixteenth street for the winter.
Mrs. Ellis, formerly Miss Waterbury, celebrated her silver wedding at her country seat at Pelham last evening.

Saturday next Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Camp will give a reception and garden-party for their daughter, Miss Camp.
Mr. and Mrs. William Chastin, of Morristown, will give a reception on Oct. 21 at their country seat, Alby Hall.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Ruth Huntington, daughter of Bishop Huntington, to Mr. Sessions.
The engagement of Mrs. Elliot Johnson, formerly Miss Waterbury, to Mr. Frank Winthrop, has recently been announced.

The Far and Near Tennis Club has issued invitations for a tournament to be held at Hastings on Friday and Saturday of next week.
It is more than likely that there will be but one Junior Patriarch this winter, and that it will be a rousing one if Mr. McAllister so decides.

Among the cottagers who are still at Narragansett are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dun and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Sanford, brother of Mr. Wright Sanford.
Miss Marie Louise Happel, daughter of Mr. K. Bruner Happel, will be married to Mr. Joseph J. O'Donohue, Jr., at the Cathedral on the morning of Oct. 27.

A dance will be given at the Tuxedo Club Saturday. This will be the regular weekly dance. Among those now at Tuxedo are the Breese, Barbey, Lorillard and Havemeyer families.
A member of the Rockaway Hunt Club said yesterday that the club had decided not to give a dance this autumn, but that it might arrange for a small one during the winter, some time about the beginning of Lent.

The Congregational Club, of this city, will hold its first annual meeting this year at Clark's. After dinner the club will listen to a lecture by Mr. George W. Cable. His subject will be "Cobwebs in the Church."
Col. and Mrs. Clarence Postley, who have been on an extensive trip in their yacht, the Resolute, have returned to their house, corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-first street. They have issued invitations for a dinner next Wednesday.

The Athletic Club of Flushing has just finished a tennis tournament. The lady managers will give a "tea" in the club-house Saturday afternoon. An amateur minstrel performance will be given in the town hall last night for the benefit of the club. It is said that the ladies interested in the club are preparing for a fair, to be held in November.

There will be a large crowd of the friends of Mrs. Potter to welcome her on the arrival of the steamship on Sunday. As Miss Cora Slocumb has quietly told some of her friends that her cousin, Mrs. Potter, will be present when she is married to the Count di Brazza, efforts have been made on the part of a few people not invited to secure invitations to the reception at the bride's home. Miss Slocumb will be married Tuesday morning.

A paragraph printed in this column on Monday in regard to the Tuxedo Club and the proposed increase in the number of members has attracted widespread attention. One of the questions that has been raised refers to the legal responsibility of the members in case of Mr. Lorillard's death. Mr. Lorillard receives all the initiation fees and annual dues. As he intends, so it is said, to increase the membership by taking in two hundred or more new members, the old members of the club want to know when this wholesale accession is to stop. By electing two hundred new members Mr. Lorillard will receive from each $500 for the initiation fee and $100 for the first annual dues, making a total of $600,000.

GRAPES ARE CHEAP THIS YEAR.
The Yield Large and the Quality of the Fruit Excellent.
The grape harvest in the Hudson River Valley is at white heat these pleasant October days. Every grape-grower in the valley is in a fever of dread lest the frost spoil his crop. Last year the harvest was late and the frost early, and as a consequence much damage was done. One Hudson River grower lost $8,000 worth of grapes by one night's frost.

The best of Concord can be bought for street dealers around Washington Market for three and a half cents a pound. Catawbas are a trifle higher. Malagas are worth 15 cents. Wholesale dealers are unable to estimate the size of this year's crop. The quantity of grapes sent to this city by both cars and steamboats is simply enormous.

The best and cheapest way to buy grapes is by the basket. The purchaser should not fail to tilt the basket on end to inspect the quality of the crop. In this way there is no danger of buying green or mildewed fruit.
Good Concord rarely fall below three cents in price. Late in the season, when the harvest is over, the price runs up as high as eight and ten cents. For the next two weeks prices probably will remain at 2 1/2 or 3 cents, with unimportant fluctuations. As a whole, the Hudson River grapes are in excellent condition.

POINTS ABOUT BIG POLICEMEN.
Inspector Byrnes is an inveterate smoker, and only the very best is good enough for his tastes. Henry Clay firsts are his falling.
In less than a month Inspector Henry V. Steers will put on his sixth stripe, evidence of thirty years' honorable service on the police force.

Inspector Williams loves a good cigar and is never without a pocketful. Inspector Conlin's private brand is "The Fifth Avenue."
Sergeant Kallier insists that "the Chicago mob" is this being the marching song of the Veterans Firemen after their trip to San Francisco.

Superintendent Murray does not drink liquor of any kind and never smokes during business hours at headquarters. His home brand is "Perfection."
Only Wanted to See it on the Table.
[From Mrs. O'Brien's Daily.]
Donald is about to die, and the minister is praying by his bedside. At length the latter remarks:
"How do you feel, my poor Donald. Is there anything I can do for you or reassure you about?"
"No, thank you, I am ready. But I should very much like to know—if I Paradise!"
"Well?"
"If there will be any whiskey there?"
"But Donald, my good friend, how can you talk like that when you are in such a state?"
"I don't know," replied Donald. "I don't know that it is for the sake of drinking that I say that. But it would give me pleasure to see some on the table up there."

Taking Time by the Reins.
[From the Philadelphia Call.]
"I was almost upset by a little incident that occurred in my store the other day," said a retail dealer in mourning goods yesterday. "A lady whom I knew very well began a close examination of my stock. Her face was pale and her eyes were swollen with weeping. 'Your husband died, didn't he?' I sympathetically asked. 'No, but he was very ill,' she replied. 'I merely want to know what are the latest fashions in your line.'"

Mrs. Thomas C. Manning, the widow of the United States Minister to Mexico, arrived from New Orleans this morning. As soon as she has recovered from the shock caused by her husband's sudden death and from the fatigue of the journey, she will remain here at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

There will be fully two thousand Tammany Hall braves in and around the big Wigwam on Fourteenth street this evening. The County and Judiciary Convention is to be called to order at 8 o'clock, but no nominations are to be made.

The Convention after appointing a committee to confer with the County Democracy will take a recess for a week. The district leaders are to have a consultation of an hour before the convention meets.

The conference committee, which will meet a similar committee on union and harmony from the County Democracy, will probably consist of Police Justice Patrick J. Spinola, Senator Plunkitt, Commissioner Croker, Sheriff Grant, County Clerk Plack, W. Bourke Cockran, ex-Judge McGuire, Police Justice Walde, ex-Senator Forster and John H. H. Bromer.

The County Democracy Committee when named will probably consist of Senator Murphy, William Walsh, Police Justice O'Reilly, Commissioner of Jurors Charles Reilly, ex-Deputy Coroner Donlin, Congressman Timothy J. Campbell, ex-Mayor Edward Cooper, ex-Assemblyman Daniel Patterson, Police Commissioner Voorhis, ex-Excise Commissioner William P. Mitchell, Police Justice J. Power, Police Justice Henry Murray, Revenue Stammer James McCartney, Dennis A. Spillney, ex-Alderman Maurice J. Power and Fire Commissioner Henry D. Furphy.

These two committees will probably simmer down to sub-committees composed of such men as Commissioner Croker, Sheriff Grant, W. Bourke Cockran and ex-Mayor Cooper, ex-Judge Hanway, ex-Senator and Fire Commissioner Henry D. Furphy. The full conference committee will endorse the harmony adopted by the sub-committee, the conventions will ratify the report of the conference committee and the
